PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Compatriots and Friends,

My message this month is about our youth programs and the successes we have had to date in carrying out our 2024 program.

We have previously reported on the reinstitution of the Sgt Moses Adams Memorial Brochure Contest. Thanks to the efforts of Compatriot Kevin Shurte, 359 middle schoolers, mostly from Ramblewood Middle School, participated with entries, submitted on March 1, 2024. The Chapter's judging committee selected the three top entries on March 18, 2024, and cash awards and certificates were presented to the students on April 9, 2024. The entry from the first place winner on the Bill of Rights will be entered in the statewide contest being judged at the spring BOM on May 17-18, 2024.

At the beginning of April, we initiated communications with the JROTC senior instructor at each of the 31 Broward schools and academies offering the JROTC program. In previous years, Joe Motes has coordinated this annual SAR medals award program, and has attended the ceremonies as best as he could. This year we were successful in securing nine Chapter representatives that committed to attend the various awards ceremonies. This has allowed us to increase our presence at these ceremonies with 71% (22 out of 31) schools covered. Big thanks and a shout-out to our Compatriot JROTC representatives: Jim Blakeslee, Tom Carpenter Jr, Jim Clark, Steve DePaul, Jim McHugh, Paul Moore, Barry Moss, Kevin Shurte, & Mark Snider. This SAR annual youth program will officially be in the books for 2024 when the final Good Citizenship Medals are awarded to the top two Sea Cadets recognized by the Fort Lauderdale Division of the Navy League.

The month of May is also when those individuals residing in South Florida who have achieved the rank of Eagle Scout over the prior annual period are recognized at a ceremony conducted by the South Florida Council of the Boys Scouts of America (BSA). Coordinated by myself for Broward and by Wm Lee Popham for Miami-Dade, 145 SAR Certificates of Recognition will be presented to these scouts at the dinner and ceremony being held on May 19, 2024. Among the 145, sixty-three of these scouts are from troops located in Broward County and each will receive their certificate from the Fort Lauderdale Chapter SAR. The BSA was originally organized in the United States in 1910. In conjunction with its 115th anniversary, the recently approved name "Scouting America" will become effective on February 8, 2025.

For many years, the Chapter has provided senior advisory and financial support to the local Swamp Fox Society C.A.R. In addition to Joe Motes, who now participates remotely, Kevin Shurte and I represent the Chapter as senior advisors.

The 2023-2024 program ends this month. Representatives of the Swamp Fox Society will summarize their annual report which will be given at our meeting of May 25, 2024. We look forward to our continued participation when the 2024-2025 C.A.R. program starts back up in September 2024.

On membership, the recent new addition also focuses on youth. As a new junior member, the application from Matthew David Scott was approved last month by SAR, and Matthew will be inducted at our meeting to be held on May 25, 2024. At this time, we only have one remaining new member application in the SAR pipeline which is the junior application of Braeden Ray Shurte with his approval anticipated shortly. As of April 30th, our 2024 membership is now at 81 having started the year with 75 members. Two of these members are juniors and one more will shortly be added to that membership category.

The most current information on upcoming meetings follows this article. For links to archival information on previously published newsletters, meeting minutes and other Chapter documents, visit us at www.fortlauderdale.sar.org.

I look forward to seeing you at our next meeting.

AMERICA 250 ANNIVERSARY
CAPTURE OF FORT TICONDEROGA – MAY 10, 1775
By Kevin Shurte

In 1775, the newly renamed Fort Ticonderoga stood as a symbol of British military might and as a reminder of its hard-fought victory over the French at Fort Carillon in 1759. Although it remained a heavily-armed, strategic fortress located between Albany and Quebec at the juncture of lakes George and Champlain, its state of readiness had declined. Understaffed with only 48 British regulars protecting the fort and laden with valuable artillery, it was a choice target for a young rebellious nation in need of armaments and victory.

Aware of Ticonderoga's military value, Connecticut Militia Captain Benedict Arnold successfully petitioned the Massachusetts Committee of Safety for the authority to prepare and coordinate a plan of capture. The provisional government granted him a colonel's commission, one hundred pounds, and authorized him to raise an army of four hundred men for the "secret" mission. Before setting out for Ticonderoga, Colonel Arnold mustered a force of forty Massachusetts militiamen.

However, Arnold's mission did not remain as secretive as he might have hoped. Learning of his activities, the Connecticut Committee of Correspondence authorized funds and the raising of its own militia. Hence, twenty Connecticut recruits also began their march toward the fort.

Even more frustrating for Arnold was the knowledge that Ethan Allen, with a small force of approximately one hundred Green Mountain Boys, had begun the northward trek with his own design on capturing Ticonderoga. Thirsty for glory, Arnold raced his horse to catch up with Allen whose forces were fifty miles ahead of his own. After "much discussion," the pair reluctantly agreed to share command of the covert operation.

On May 10, 1775, co-commanders Benedict Arnold and Ethan Allen led the predawn raid to capture Fort Ticonderoga. Small boats ferried the initial company of Green Mountain Boys across Lake Champlain from what is today Vermont to the sleeping fort. Fearful that they would lose the element of surprise if they delayed longer, Arnold and Allen agreed to launch the assault immediately with this 83-man force.

The 4 A.M. raid was a British rout. Unaware of the outbreak of war in the East, the 48-man British garrison commanded by Captain William De La Place was understaffed and ill-prepared. Reports indicate that of the forty-eight men garrisoned at Ticonderoga, forty-seven of them slept while a lone sentry stood watch over the fort by night, and the south gate was left unlocked.

The strike team entered the fort and overpowered the lone night-watchman, who ran toward the parade ground desperately trying to raise the alarm, while Arnold and Allen bickered in pursuit. Upon reaching the parade ground, Arnold along with Allen (or Allen along with Arnold) commanded the troop to reform into two ranks. In their exultance over having entered the fort, the troops let out three exuberant "Huzzahs" which further roused the sleeping British garrison. Alerted by the shouts, a second British sentry frantically plunged his bayonet, slightly injuring Green Mountain Boy, Gideon Warren. Coming to Warren's aid, Allen slashed at the side of the sentry's head with his saber, causing slight injury and forcing the sentry to drop his musket in defeat. The British commandant quickly surrendered the garrison without further bloodshed. Thus ended the brief skirmish in the raid on Fort Ticonderoga.

Ticonderoga marked the first victorious American offensive of the war. The victory boosted morale, opened the corridor to Montreal and Quebec, and netted the Continental Army 80 pieces of much-needed artillery that General Washington would soon use to force the British withdrawal from Boston.

C.A.R. MEETING & PAWS FOR LIBERTY EVENT

Kyle Peterson and Braeden Shurte

The Swamp Fox Society of the Children of the American Revolution (C.A.R.) held its monthly meeting at the Paws for Liberty facility in Lake Worth, Florida on Sunday, April 21, 2024. Amanda Barnes, a senior advisor of the Swamp Fox Society, organized the event with Heidi Spirazza, founder of Paws for Liberty., and arranged that Swamp Fox would hold its April meeting at the Lake Worth facility. Paws for Liberty is a privately owned, non-profit organization that provides and trains service dogs for disabled military veterans suffering from PTSD. Since its inception in 2006, Paws for Liberty has assisted more than 250 disabled veterans, pairing them with supportive canine pals, and helping them to readjust to civilian life.

During the outing, Ms. Spirazza provided all attendees with a guided tour of the training facility. C.A.R. members then had the opportunity to sit and chat with several veterans and to meet their four-legged friends. Swamp Fox President, Kyle Peterson, led the meeting and discussed C.A.R.'s history, goals, and activities. Before ending the day, Swamp Fox donated a new American flag to Paws for Liberty. Kyle Peterson and fellow C.A.R. member Braeden Shurte hoisted the new flag and led the assemblage in the Pledge of Allegiance. The pair then ceremoniously folded the aged flag for which Braeden Shurte is arranging a proper retirement.

JUST IN – 2024 SPRING BOM

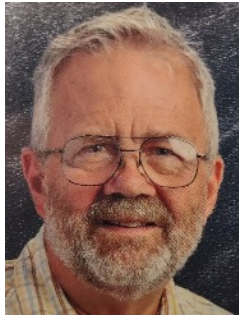

The FLSSAR Spring BOM was held May 17-18, 2024, in Kissimmee, Florida. The conference was classified as a national event due to the attendance of Treasurer General, Michael J. Elston, representing President General, John I. Dodd. Pertinent to the Chapter and some key takeaways:

1. The Fort Lauderdale Chapter won first place (as a medium sized chapter) in the 2023 Americanism Chapter Challenge.
2. The Fort Lauderdale entry for the middle school brochure contest won first place at State. Miss Gianna Mann's brochure on The Bill of Rights will now be judged at the 134th National Congress held in Lancaster, Pennsylvania on July 10 – 16, 2024.
3. Kevin Shurte, who chaired the FLSSAR Youth Education Ad Hoc Committee, made an excellent presentation with his team encouraging more chapters to sponsor SAR recognized youth education programs. The BOM adopted at its business meeting a motion to restore youth education to a standing committee and an increase in its budget for the remaining year.
4. Kevin Shurte received the Youth Education Award for giving 15 approved patriotic lessons to youth groups. He also received a bronze cluster for the 15 additional lessons that he gave.
5. Chuck Adams was elected to a one-year term as FLSSAR S.E. Regional Vice President.
6. Steve DePaul was appointed to a five-man ad hoc committee named The First Amphibious Assault Memorial Committee. This committee will explore the feasibility of constructing a monument on public property commemorating the first amphibious land assault by the newly formed Continental Marines which occurred on March 3, 1776, with the attack of Nassau, Bahamas and was led by then Captain Samuel Nicholas. The battle occurred about 200 miles southeast of our north Broward shoreline.
7. Kevin Shurte was appointed to a five-man ad hoc committee named The Congress Surplus Allocation Committee. It will make recommendations on the disposition and reallocation of $37,000 of surplus monies left in the fund for the 133rd National Congress.
8. Chuck Adams, Steve DePaul and Kevin Shurte each participated in the presentation of colors at one or both banquets.

Key takeaways: A) Chapters are being urged to initiate or expand their sponsorship of SAR recognized youth education programs and contests; and B) Chapters are asked to promote recurring 250 Anniversary events, to track member and non-member participation, and attempt to at least award Bronze Medal Certificates to as many members as possible by the end of this year.

SAR MEMBER PROFILE - THOMAS R. CARPENTER JR

Interview by Chuck Adams

Q. Ok Tom, tell us a little bit about yourself.

A. I was born in 1955 in Washington, DC. As a child growing up in that city, I was witness to many key events that marked America. My earliest memories include playing among the monuments and around government buildings, President Kennedy's funeral parade, Civil Rights demonstrations, and Vietnam War rallies. My fellow students in public school were sons and daughters of government leaders. In that environment and coming from a family with military service going back many generations, it was natural for me to develop a strong sense of patriotism.

Q. Did you serve in a branch of the military?

A. After one year of college, I enlisted in the U.S. Navy during the final years of the Vietnam War. I served on aircraft carriers and in helicopter squadrons as a combat search and rescue diver. Later, during the height of the Cold War, I participated in many missions strengthening US and NATO defenses in Europe, the Mediterranean, and North African regions.

Q. What was your occupation?

A. I graduated in 1983 from Trinity Baptist College in Jacksonville, Florida. My degrees are in theology, business, and education, so my resume is a colorful pastiche of competing interests ranging from working as an analyst in the Tomahawk cruise missile program to service as an ordained minister. I founded three companies in three different industries and have taught at bachelors and graduate levels. Presently, I am doing some of my most rewarding work as a public school teacher at an elementary and middle school in Hollywood.

Q. Tell us about some of your recreational interests?

A. As an avid outdoors man and conservationist, I enjoy hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, and scuba diving whenever possible. I also manage a website and underwater adventure organization. When I cannot be doing it, I write about it. My most recent book was a biography and story of faith that traces the providence of God through a family across three centuries.

Q. How about your family?

A. My wife, Liana, and I recently celebrated our 20th wedding anniversary. My wife has three daughters and I have two children from previous marriages. It was through the work of my daughter, Angela, that I learned of the Sons of the American Revolution. She is an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Mayflower Society. Her husband, Austin Primiano, and my grandson, Mason, are SAR and SAR Junior Members, respectively, both with our chapter. Also SAR members are my father, Thomas, Sr, who lives in West Virginia, and my son, Thomas III, who lives with his wife, Katelyn, and my granddaughter, Shiloh, in Virginia.

Q. Who is your Patriot ancestor?

A. My Patriot ancestor is Nathaniel Carpenter (1744-1826). He was born in and died in Massachusetts. He enlisted in February 1777 and served for eighteen months as a private in an independent company of New Hampshire Rangers. More information on him can be found in his revolutionary war pension file S.34148

Q. Do you plan to help in Chapter development, retain and attract members, or recognize others consistent with SAR programs?

A. In the past two years, I have seen how much a part our chapter plays in our community, in service to veterans, in promoting patriotism and American values in schools and youth organizations, and in supporting other organizations that keep our nation strong. I welcome the chance to represent our chapter in JROTC assemblies, color guard appearances, and whenever we have the opportunity to participate in civic affairs.

Thanks, Tom, for sharing.
